

Royal Bank of Canada signs up to HM Treasury “Women in Finance Charter”

RBC is focused on achieving an inclusive workplace where all employees have equal opportunity to reach their full potential, and recognises that diversity and inclusion is not just a core value, it is also a business priority

LONDON, UK, March 22, 2017 — Royal Bank of Canada (RBC), across its businesses in the British Isles, is pleased to confirm its participation in the Women in Finance Charter. By signing the Charter, RBC is underscoring its commitment to gender equality and recruiting, retaining and advancing a diverse employee base.

The Women in Finance Charter supports the progression of women to senior roles and recognizes the importance of gender equality across financial services organisations in the UK. The Charter reflects the UK government’s aspiration to see gender balance at all levels across the financial services industry.

Harry Samuel, Chairman of RBC’s European Executive Committee and the senior leader designated under the Women in Finance Charter as responsible and accountable for gender diversity and inclusion, commented: “Diversity and inclusion for innovation and growth is one of RBC’s core values, and this sits at the heart of our culture and our approach to client service. Ensuring an inclusive workplace is vital to the continued success of our business, and the RBC leadership team is fully committed to supporting an environment where all our employees have the opportunity to thrive in their careers, regardless of gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability or age.”
